JOHN NABORS won 1 game and lost 24 in one season. What a record?

J. T. HAXALL kicked a 65 yard place kick? (Princeton v. Yale, 1922.)

Yale supporters and plenty of noise in the Tiger cheering section. Old timers will tell you that they kicked better forty years ago than they do now, but we youngsters merely laugh and say they must have had a "lively ball" in the good old days.

Golf is played over a mile and a half above sea level—there is a hole in France over three furlongs long, and a complete course on the Isle of May consists of only three holes? The course at Guilmar, India, outranks another "highest course in the world" on Mount Rainier, Washington, by 2,000 feet.

JOHNSON DEPOSITS CHECK

Ewing receives $10,000 as first payment toward purchase of Oakland club. Another $25,000 must be paid Saturday. Final installment must be received January 2.

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 18. — Walter Johnson, pitching ace of the Washington club, and George Weiss, owner of the New Haven club in the Eastern league, today deposited a check for $10,000 with J. C. Ewing, owner of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast baseball league as first payment on the $250,000 purchase price of the Oakland club, it was announced by Ewing.

Johnson and Weiss guaranteed to put up an additional $25,000 by Saturday. When the final check is paid, Ewing said, according to the existing contract, the total price is $250,000. A price of $250,000 was first agreed upon, he said, but later negotiations were reopened and the reduction was made.

The new owners will have until January 2, 1925, to make up the balance, Ewing said.

STORM BLAMED FOR DEATH

Danville, Nov. 18. — The snow storm which struck this village Sunday was blamed Monday for the death of James Stanley, 40, a Jackawanna railroad conductor. Stanley was knocked from the tender of a freight engine when his head struck a projecting coal chute at Groveland station near here. It is believed he failed to see the chute owing to the heavy snow swirls at the time.

THE KING OF STORES

One department store in Chicago occupies an exclusive building having a floor area of about forty-four acres. The space occupied by this building extends from forty-three feet below the street level to more than two hundred feet above the surface of the surrounding streets.

America holds many astounding examples of business enterprise, but this store is an enviable illustration of the great and valuable institutions that can be built up by concentrated and continuous painstaking effort to anticipate requirements and approximate perfection.

Accompanying a guide through this establishment you will hear a spiel something like this: "The main aisle of this store is three-hundred and eighty-five feet long. In normal times more than 9,000 men, women, boys and girls are required to perform the service of maintaining the operation of this great retail establishment. During special sale periods and the holiday season as many as 12,500 names have been on the payroll at one time. About 300 motor trucks and delivery vehicles are in daily operation hauling new stocks of goods from the railway stations, steamship docks and warehouses and delivering the purchases to the myriads of customers in the nearby territory. One of the largest switchboards ever constructed for a single institution is employed to transact the telephone business of this store with its customers. The average number of calls handled per day is in the neighborhood of 30,000. In extra busy times the number of calls has exceeded 50,000 in a single day."

"The basement floor contains more than 170,000 square feet of space and is the largest single-floor store on earth. For the purpose of speeding up the movement of patrons, employees, packages and freight within this store 92 elevators are in service. These elevators carry an average of about 25,000 passengers an hour and run 1,000 miles a day—or the distance from Chicago to New York. The entire seventh floor is divided into large rooms devoted to restaurant purposes; 5,800 persons can be served at one time, making this the largest known dining room. A separate dining room is operated for the officers and employees. All told about two-hundred and fifty cooks and helpers and 500 waitresses are required to handle the throngs which eat here daily. To light, heat, ventilate and operate this enormous store building, power sufficient to furnish light for a city of 100,000 inhabitants is required."

Paint Does Fire

Lead, zinc and oil paints that will not smolder a blaze and will prevent a fire from spreading have been developed by paint chemists. Paints that actually possess these properties, fire-retarding to such an extent that a small fire will burn out without serious injury to paint or property, are made in all colors. They resist sea fog, salt air and all climate influences, and cost no more than ordinary paint.

To Save Girdled Trees

A tree the bark of which has been cut all around is sure to die unless a very delicate operation is performed on it. Skillful nurserymen have found that it is possible to graft a twig, or a number of twigs, into the bark, above and below the wound, and that the sap will circulate through these twigs and carry nourishment to the tree.

GOVERNMENT IN FILM BUSINESS

Department of Interior Has Produced 1,800,000 Feet of Pictures.

Washington, D. C.—Educational moving picture films for distribution to the public by the Department of Interior in its campaign of visual education have now reached over 1,800,000 feet, it was learned at the department.

For the last eight years the Department of Interior, through its various bureaus, has been getting out a series of films on different subjects of public interest. The bureau of Indian Affairs has just completed a moving picture entitled, "The American Indian," which shows the evolution of the Indian, his life, education and social customs.

The national park service has produced several motion pictures depicting the natural scenery, roads and transportation facilities. The Alaska railroad has also for distribution an educational film showing the wonderful scenic effects along the line under the jurisdiction of the interior department. It was taken during the late President Harding's trip to Alaska.

Film Teach School Methods. The bureau of education has three films on educational subjects that are now being distributed throughout the country. One of the films shows rural supervisors at work on one-teacher and rural consolidated schools and the methods employed by these supervisors to improve classroom instruction. This bureau has produced another film, titled "Better Schools for Farm Children," illustrating the courses and equipment necessary for schools in the farming districts. A third film gives the most effective methods of kindergarten teaching.

The bureau of mines, however, has built up the largest library of educational films, probably unsurpassed by any other government agency, for use in educational institutions for the purpose of giving pupils instruction regarding the nation's various industries. These films are distributed free. They are being shown in colleges, public schools and meetings of engineering societies, civic, military and religious organizations in every part of the United States.

Many Industries Give Aid. Any industrial concern the processes of which have educational value, may co-operate with the bureau in producing one of these pictures. The first industrial picture put out by the bureau of mines was in 1911. Since that time practically every large oil and coal company in the United States has co-operated in the production of educational films.

The subjects of the films cover almost every development in the country. Among the long list are included: The story of coal, petroleum, sulphur, iron, steel, saving coal at home, the story of asbestos, rock drilling, abrasives, Mexico and its oil, the story of heavy excavating machinery, natural gas, oxygen, the electric meter, the watch, the automobile, compressed air, water power, transportation, steel, alloy steel, gasoline motors, safety first in the petroleum industry, motor trucks, freckles refractories, the world's struggle for oil, the story of gasoline, the electric battery and heat treatment of steel.

Government to Build Prison on North Border

Malone, N. Y.—The United States government is soon to begin the erection of a large federal prison at Rouses Point, on the Canadian border, according to reports circulating through police circles in the North country.

The prison will be used to house the bootleggers, other types of smugglers and aliens now confined in Clinton, Essex, Franklin and St. Lawrence county jails.

The government is being practically forced to build a prison or detention house on the border because the sheriffs of the counties where the bulk of the arrests are being made have notified federal officials they cannot care for the prisoners sent them, the county jails being full to overflowing.

Recently the situation has become much worse owing to the great number of aliens being seized in the border counties.

Crows Outwit Hunters

Seattle, Wash.—The annual autumn crow hunt fostered by the King County Sportsmen's club was a failure because of the scarcity of crows. The hunters worked in teams of four, the teams bringing in the most crows winning a dinner from the others. The banging of guns brought down a few unsophisticated ravens, but long before noon every crow in the Northwest knew just how far away to keep in fight but out of range of the hunters' guns.

Seed From Tomb Grows

Tucson, Wash.—F. H. Johnston, a farmer, has just harvested a bumper crop of wheat that he says came from seed taken from an Egyptian tomb. Mr. Johnston says he got the seeds four years ago and this year the harvest was enough to plant 15 acres. The grain is white, very hard, and the straw is short and Johnston says it is one of the best varieties of spring wheat he has ever grown.

Golf AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Should the speed of the clubhouse be gradually increased from the top of the swing downward, or should the downward be started slowly and the speed applied suddenly just before the impact?

By TOM KERRIGAN

The speed of the clubhouse should be increased gradually on the downward swing, with the maximum speed at point of impact. But be sure to start down slowly. Apply the speed suddenly just before impact may result in a jerky, unorthodox hit, especially when attempted by a high-handicap player. The average player will do well to strive for a steadily accelerated "sweet" rather than a lax and slack downward swing with a "flick of the wrist" at the point of impact. A lot of golf players seem to combine the two methods, but most players must learn to crawl before they can walk.

Joint-Ease For Swollen Joints

Most rheumatic and other joint pains are due to the fact that the joints are inflamed. It is the joint trouble that makes it so hard to walk, stand, sit, or lie down. The pain is often so severe that it is almost unbearable. But there is a remedy. It is called Joint-Ease. It is a powerful anti-inflammatory and it is the only remedy that has been found to give permanent relief to joint pains. It is the only remedy that has been found to give permanent relief to joint pains. It is the only remedy that has been found to give permanent relief to joint pains.

COUNTY ELECTION FIGURES

Official Tabulation by Board of County Officers. Results of the election of 1934 for the County of Otsego, New York, held on November 6, 1934. The board of supervisors acting as a board of county canvassers completed the official tabulation of results from the several election districts of the county on Monday and adjourned sine die. While the results do not differ materially from the unofficial figures compiled by The Star on election night there is sufficient interest to record here the total vote on the various offices. It is also interesting to note the large number of blank ballots which increased toward the foot of the ticket. The small number of ballots rejected by the election boards is a fine tribute to the intelligence of the local electorate. Following are the totals for all offices on the ticket.

THE MOTOR BUS SERVICE

In the state of Massachusetts steps have been taken by the Boston and Maine railway to parallel some of its branches, and to replace steam service thereon with motor vehicles for freight transportation. The first step in that direction has been taken between South Ashburnham and Ashburnham where a subsidiary company called the Boston & Maine Transportation Line, has been incorporated with an authorized capital of $100,000. It is only a step, but it may mark the beginning of extensive employment of motor vehicles, not in competition, but in alliance with the great railway systems.

There are unquestionably certain sorts of service in which the motor vehicle cannot be expected to replace steam railway trains, those being hauls of heavy material, the transportation of grain, of coal and of heavy or bulky materials over long distances. The very conditions of this service preclude the speedier transportation over highways, but what has been undertaken in Massachusetts might follow throughout the country, not by separate, local companies, but by the railway companies or their auxiliaries.

But, in case this change in short-haul service is undertaken by the railways, as a whole, it will not be without opposition. The principal highways of the country are already crowded with pleasure and business vehicles, and the addition of heavily laden railway motor buses would impede what we are accustomed to consider legitimate traffic. And, of course, there is no doubt, the heavier vehicles would affect the condition of the highways themselves, making them short-lived and subject to more frequent repair and reconstruction. Wider highways would also be necessary, and since the expense of maintenance would be greatly increased, there would be demand that a fair share of the burden of maintenance, construction and reconstruction should be passed along to the railways.

This at least, is the way the situation is thought of in Massachusetts, and doubtless it would also be so regarded in New York.

DR. FOSDICK MUST RESIGN.

There seems now to be no doubt that Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, resident of New York city, must resign his pastorate by March 1. Up to that time he may remain with the church as a hired preacher. The decision was reached by the New York City Presbytery with only two dissenting votes, and was in compliance with the demand of the general assembly, that Dr. Fosdick either join the Presbyterian church or get out.

Whether Dr. Fosdick's views are heretical or not it seems clear that he should no longer retain the pulpit, since by his supporters the assertion is made that action cannot be taken against him for promulgation of such alleged views, inasmuch as he is not a member of the Presbyterian church and so is not amenable to correction under its rules. A foreigner in the United States cannot express views contrary to the acknowledged general policies of our nation, and the provisions of the constitution, and then escape punishment on the ground that he is free to do what he pleases, not being a citizen. He would instead be deported. Dr. Fosdick is a foreigner of another faith, speaking by courtesy in a Presbyterian pulpit, and it would seem that he could not claim privileges which to an avowed member of that faith would not be allowed.

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.
EATING FANCY FOODS.

Dr. Holt, formerly of Columbia University, has been the outstanding physician in America in diseases of children.

Physicians have come from all parts of the world to learn his methods. And what are these methods? Simply the proper way to feed the young baby.

Thousands of children have been saved by his food methods. Of course, in the case of children, there is the natural tendency towards growth, and if suitable food is provided the whole job is completed.

What about you? Well, you are an adult, and you have felt that you have your senses, your brain, and know how to feed yourself.

Also the water you drink, the disposal of waste and garbage, and other similar arrangements, are at such a point of efficiency, that you should really be a stronger man physically than any of the generations that preceded you.

But are you? You know you're not, and the examination of recruits told the same story.

What's the matter? I suppose you might call it the superiority of man's brain.

Our friends the food producers are manufacturing foods that please the fancy. These foods are all right in themselves, if we ate all round G.O. But unfortunately we like these specially prepared foods so much, that our old friends the garden vegetables are despised. In other words the reason you are not as strong a man physically as your great grandfather, is because he ate the ordinary foods and vegetables of his day, whereas you eat what your fancy dictates.

Now what's the reason? Well, remember that just as the youngster grows strong from eating, so must you get your strength of body from your food. There is no other way to get it.

There are the three kinds of food: (1) meat and eggs, (2) fats, butter and milk, (3) vegetables and bread. A good ordinary rule is one part of

PITY, A MOTIVE FOR RELIEF

One of the commonest of human errors is to allow pity to remain a mere emotion when it ought to be developed into a motive for helpful action.

I suppose that no one (at least no one who has not smothered his own heart) can look about him on human nature without a profound sense of pity.

But unless that emotion is taken back into the mind and forced into a motive for helpful action on the avail of thought, of what value is it? A mere sensation that floats away like a bubble.

It may even be the source of evil conduct.

I venture to say that the origin of a lot of criminality and sin is to be found in a neglected sentiment of pity for mankind (more especially self-pity), which, failing to develop into a motive for relief, enters into justification for self-indulgence.

Alas, we say, how pitiful is the lot of man!

And we conclude from this that we are entitled to find and take our pleasure as we can.

Jesus felt that profound sorrow of soul for the sorrow and suffering of mankind.

But he always directed it toward the relief of man.

Pay as a perpetual question is one of the roots of despair and its foolish and desperate grief.

As a motive for helpful action, it is in the viewpoint of spiritual progress.

Music Memory Contest

Prepared for the Playground and Recreation Association of America by Professor Peter W. Dylson of the University of Wisconsin

Selection No. 25 — Polonaise MILITARY, by Frédéric Chopin (Born 1810, near Warsaw, Poland, died 1849, Paris).

The Triumph of Spirit.

Nowhere can a finer example be found of the superiority of will over body than in this virtuous composition of Chopin's. No one would conceive of these sweeping melodies, these resounding harmonies, and the vigorous rhythms as being the product of a small, delicate, and sensitive man.

Past and Present in Time.

Frederic Chopin, the poet of the piano, was born in 1810 in Poland, that land of many troubles. Born a delicate child, he never became a robust man. Throughout his life he was subject to various and vivid dreams. All the extreme manifestations of his nature appear in some of his delicate piano compositions such as nocturnes, ballads, waltzes, and mazurkas. His intense love for his country, however, frequently filled his weak body with such fire that he seemed a man of men, and produced music that is almost divine in its strength.

A Vision of Free Poland.

While he was an exile from his country, news came to him that Poland was threatened with invasion by a foreign foe. The Military Polonaise was written to suggest a glorious Poland that has been and which he hoped may come again. It is a stately dance that is little more than a great procession. Although its rhythm is a three, the notes are so skillfully arranged that it can nevertheless be used most effectively for marching. In this "MILITARY" comes from the fact that one section seems to imitate the roll of the drum and the entire piece is filled with pomp of military ceremony.

Britain's Premier in Action

No secret service men surrounded Premier Stanley Baldwin (center) of Great Britain as he made his way to Conservative headquarters at Palace Chambers, London, for a conference with party leaders. And very few recognized the premier as he moved along, minus overcoat, and with pipe in mouth.

TRIUMPH OF CATHEDRALS

Discussed by the Rev. Yale Lyon in Illustrated Lecture Before Woman's Club Last Evening.

"To build is the noblest of all arts," said the Rev. Yale Lyon of Unadilla in an address before the Woman's club last evening, and offered as proof of his remark a number of slides representing the architectural achievements of the outstanding old world cathedrals, together with a number of the more modern ones of this country including the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine, in New York city.

While the excellent slides last evening promoted the interest of the lecture, Mr. Lyon with his first hand knowledge of practically every picture presented, proved himself an adequate as well as an entertaining speaker on the subject of "Cathedrals." He pointed out in the course of his lecture how the religious, social, political and geological aspects of a country can affect its architecture and how each country adopted through a number of historical periods, a type of architecture peculiar to itself.

One of the most striking slides to be shown last evening was that of the Cathedral of Salisbury, an example proving the rule that no cathedral should ever be finished. Salisbury is known as the one perfect cathedral in the world and represents but one period of architecture, the Gothic.

FORMER MILFORD RESIDENT.

Luman E. Saxton, formerly a well-known resident of Milford, and latter of Cooperstown, died Sunday, November 16, at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Vernon Adams, at East Orange, N. J. The body was brought yesterday to Milford by Mrs. Adams, interment being made in the family plot in the village cemetery. Rev. N. P. Ripley conducted the service at the grave.

Mr. Saxton was a son of John and Ann (Bates) Saxton, and was born in Westville 75 years ago. In his youth the family moved to Geneva, Ohio, where he learned the jeweler's trade. About 47 years since he returned to Cooperstown, where he opened at Milford a jewelry store, which he conducted for many years. Later he engaged in similar business at Cooperstown, and about 7 years ago he removed to Jacksonville, Fla., where until his death had been his home.

He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal society at Milford, where he was active in the work of the church, being leader of the choir, and for many years zealous in the Sunday school. He was an upright, kindly, unassuming man with many friends who will regret his death.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Lucille Saxton, three children, William Saxton of Cleveland, Ohio, Verne F. Saxton of Fort Plain and Mrs. Adams of East Orange, N. J., also by several grandchildren and by one brother, Hiram Saxton of Mt. Vernon.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS TREE

Suggested by Many as Promoting the Holiday Spirit—Organizations Will Be Asked to Cooperate in the Movement.

At the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday the suggestion was considered that the community have a Christmas tree placed in some central point about which light and other decorations could be worn and that accompanying the tree that a few scenes of colored lights be strung along the business section with greens used in decorating some of the poles that still adorn (?) our main street and the business section.

The proposal was received with keen favor and it will be suggested to the Kiwanis, Rotary and the Woman's clubs that they appoint a committee to unite with one from the chamber in promoting the tree.

It is believed that there would be no difficulty in securing the consent of a chorus to gather about the tree at stated periods during the festive season and sing Christmas carols and that much of the wholesome spirit of "peace on earth and good will to men" fostered.

The matter will be presented to the definite form at an early date. Certain organizations named at once and it is that the support of many will be assured.

Mixes Bible With Boxing

Pro. 24. 29
Lake 23. 22
Prov. 24. 29
Lake 23. 22
Rom. 12. 17

But I say unto you, 'That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.'

The Bible and the boxing glove go hand in hand with Mack Lillard of Spokane, Wash. On Sundays Lillard is a Bible class teacher, on other days a boxer. To his Bible class he preaches, "Whosoever shall smite thee on the right cheek, turn to him the other also." In the ring Lillard interprets the biblical injunction differently. If, perchance, he happens to stop a stiff punch with the right cheek, the young gent simply turns into his opponent and tries his dearest for a knockout. And usually he succeeds. Soon he invades the east for professional bouts.

FAKE FURNITURE IS NEWEST OF SWINDLES

Scapers After Antiques in England Are Disposed.

London.—Of the making of many different kinds of fakes there seems to be no end.

There have been faked pictures ever since writing first began to use quills. There are so many faked Rembrandts in existence that few prospective purchasers will complete a deal for one of the great Dutchman's works without consulting an expert.

Just now an especially active business in faked furniture is reported.

"This is an age of faked furniture," said the proprietor of a large faked gallery. "One comes across it everywhere. It is certainly more plentiful than genuine furniture."

"What if it is sold in the first place for what it is, accurate imitation, but later it comes into the market as the real thing. Some of the modern faking of Jacobean furniture is so good that it frequently deceives experts."

The number of Tudor tables which are on the market is enormous. There is about one for every six houses of Tudor days. Of course, most of them are clever fakes.

A favorite device of the fakers just now is to plant their reproductions, carefully matured and dust-covered, in rural English homes, where they are eagerly snatched up by unsuspecting purchasers who go through the countryside looking for antiques.

AMERICA'S BEST KNOWN VEHICLE

Washington, D. C.—Already America's best known vehicle is the Shenandoah, says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its Washington (D. C.) headquarters.

"Hundreds of thousands have seen the silver 'Shenandoah' in the 'crack' trains and giant boats; literally millions have watched the silvery Shenandoah spiral silently across the sky," says a communication to the Society.

"Incidentally, the Shenandoah and the EB-3 are not, strictly speaking, dirigibles. They are technically called rigid airships."

The Shenandoah comprises many wonder stories of modern science. Its length, 600 feet, is two-thirds that of the Leviathan, yet its weight of only 37 tons is a tiny fraction of the Leviathan's 50,000 tons.

Manager Near Capitol's Side.

"To house it and a bigger sister ship to come, a hangar was built in a clearing of the New Jersey woods, which building is 201 feet longer than the United States Capitol building, just two feet less than the Capitol's widest part, and more than two-thirds as high. The sliding doors at one end weigh 1,800 tons.

"As the airship floats mysteriously overhead, it looks like a magnificent cigar, wrapped in its foil, with six tiny baskets suspended from it. Inside the covering are 20 great gas bags, with a total gas capacity equal to the cubic contents of a train of 700 freight cars. These are interspersed with from 40 to 75 gasoline tanks and a complement of one-ton water tanks.

"This equipment is supported by a metal framework which is a veritable maze of girders, struts and beams; there are 3,000 struts alone in the intricate design.

"It is for this metal framework that duralumin is used—an alloy so light and strong that a girder 18 feet long can be balanced on one's little finger, yet if the tips are placed on blocks it will bear the load of eight men sitting upon it.

"In one of its six cars is a photographic laboratory, so that motion-picture reels and photographs may be developed on board and the pictorial story of a flight be ready when the ship lands, or even thrown overboard by parachutes at designated places.

Another car has a sound-proof radio compartment with a powerful sending apparatus and telegraphic instruments.

"The most astonishing mechanical contrivance on the Shenandoah is the newly installed water-recovery apparatus, which replaces the gasoline burned with an equivalent weight of water, and thus saves the valuing of precious helium.

"You will recall from your chemistry courses that gasoline consists of hydrogen and carbon. When gasoline is burned, the carbon combines with some of the oxygen from the air to form carbon dioxide, and the hydrogen, with other oxygen, forms water.

"Automobilists notice in cold weather that their exhaust pipes steam.

Man, 73, Starts on Grizzly Hunt

Long Beach, Cal.—The "old man" who has been hunting grizzly bears for 50 years, at the age of seventy-three, has the "call of the wild" in his blood. Chester Ellsworth, known to his friends and members of the A. S. Vancouver club by that appellation, called recently with his gun packed for the wilds of British Columbia to hunt the grizzly.

He will travel to the furthest outpost of civilization, and accompanied by one man to chop wood and tend camp, he is to go into the heart of the woods for his prey.

"I'll be 73," says the old man, "but I have their wheels and their traps. Give me the air like a young man, the spirit of the great place, the feel of a gun in my hand and I am content," Ellsworth said.

BANISHED FROM DELHI

Raymond Weed Who Sent Threatening Letters Through the Mails.

Delhi, Nov. 18.—The regular term of county court for the county of Delaware, convened on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Hon. Andrew J. McNaught presiding.

Raymond Weed who was indicted for sending threatening letters through the mails and who has been confined in the Delhi jail for some time, pleaded guilty through his attorney, Andrew C. Featon. Fleets to "Fight" Before Cruise to South Seas

San Pedro.—Before the departure of the United States fleet on its 20,000-mile cruise to the Antipodes next April, the scouting and battle fleets will "fight" for control of the California coast, it was announced by Admiral Robert H. Coontz, commander in chief on his arrival here aboard the flagship battleship.

The two fleets will make contact somewhere between Los Angeles and Panama during the fortnight of February 25-March 12, the admiral said. Under command of Vice Admiral W. A. McCully, the scouting fleet, playing the role of an enemy force, will attempt to slip past the defending fleet in command of Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson, and when the resultant "battle" is over naval experts will endeavor to determine whether or not California's cities and harbors have been saved from the foe.

After completion of the maneuvers the fleets will proceed to this base for machinery overhaul; and then depart on April 3 for Australia, New Zealand and Samoa, via San Francisco and Hawaii.

Red Hair And Hidden Ears

Fifty years ago red hair was considered a real affliction. The day arrived, however, when it became fashionable, and during a considerable period the heroines of novels were invariably more or less red-headed. Truth to tell, the

Why Women Are Rarely Satisfied

It is a great piece of luck that

An answer is not hard to give. Hair, on the average woman's head, when of short length grows at a rate of one-fifth of an inch a day. That means seven inches in a year. At the end of a twelve-month a damsel repentant of her bob should be able to put up her hair in some sort of fashion. Within two years she would have enough of it to arrange in almost any way that style might dictate.

In that suggestion, according to keen students of the situation like the solution of America's timber crisis: intensive forest culture applied to an area equivalent to our present forest area, is essential to meet the country's permanent timber requirements. Timber must be considered a crop, in the same sense that wheat and corn are so considered. The cultivation of trees is essential to meeting the demands of the future.

County Committees To Urge Golden Rule Day Observance Throughout New York State

DR. ARTHUR E. BESTOR

DR. JOHN H. FINLEY

Observance of the Golden Rule for at least one day throughout the Empire State is the object of the New York State Committee for Golden Rule Sunday, of which Dr. Arthur E. Bestor, president of the Chautauque Institution, is chairman. The state committee has issued a special appeal to this county for the observance of International Golden Rule Sunday on December 14th, thereby joining with people in more than twenty counties who have pledged themselves to keep the day. Local and county committees are being organized throughout the state. Dr. John H. Finley, former state commissioner of Education, is the national chairman of the movement. "Our purpose in observing Golden Rule Sunday is two-fold," says Dr. Bestor in a letter just received here. "In the first place we believe it will aid the cause of world peace by creating an atmosphere of good fellowship. The chief purpose, however, is to aid child orphanage and educational work in the Near East. Consequently we are asking people to serve a four-cent meal, similar to that eaten daily by the orphans under American care overseas, and then to contribute as generously as possible to the Near East Relief, which is carrying on that work. "So far we are very much encouraged by the interest that is being shown everywhere in our plans. Golden Rule organization dinners are being held in many communities for the purpose of forming local committees and women in large numbers are holding Golden Rule teas to interest their friends. Interest has been enormously stimulated by the big Washington dinner at which President Coolidge was the chief speaker. "I have been in the Near East Relief and I know the need not only for relief work but for a continuation of the same, economical Golden Rule in teaching the children in its care to become industrious, self-supporting citizens fitted for leadership among their people. "We have drawn up some novel plans in connection with the promotion of Golden Rule Sunday. These are available to any one applying to Golden Rule Headquarters, 161 Fifth Avenue, New York City." Dr. Bestor said that though December 7th largely has been accepted as the day for community observance a number of communities have selected other days.

ROBBERS CONFESS, IS REPORT

Three Men Arrested in Roselle, N. J., Admit They Are Members of Gang Charged in Sidney, Plattsburgh and McAdamsville Robberies, State Troopers Declare.

Peter Genser, LeGrand Chamberlain and Fred Conner, each of whom is serving a 30-day sentence in Plattsburgh, as fugitives from justice, have confessed that they are members of a gang of burglars who robbed the Richmond Clothing store in Sidney on the night of November 8, taking $2,500 in merchandise, according to an announcement last night by Captain D. E. Fox of the State Constabulary at Sidney barracks. Captain Fox declared that he had received the information in a long distance telephone report from two Troop C troopers which he sent to Roselle to investigate after the arrest of the three men and the recovery of an alleged stolen automobile was reported from that place.

John McKinney, a fourth member of the gang, under arrest and now in or near Troy with state troopers who are attempting to recover a part of the stolen property. McKinney is said to have owned the Hudson automobile which was used to cart away the stolen clothing in the robbery of the Sidney store. When Delaware and Hudson detectives called at the McKinney farm at Selkirk they declare that they found William McKinney, a brother of John McKinney, outside the house washing the car. Twelve suits and ten overcoats alleged to have been stolen in Sidney were found in the house according to the authorities. William McKinney also is under arrest.

Investigation by the state troopers of several troops working in co-operation is said to have disclosed that the members of the gang are responsible for the robbery of the Anson General store at McAdamsville, near Roselle, another robbery in Plattsburgh as well as the burglary of the Richmond store in Sidney.

One of the three men under arrest in Roselle, N. J., is said to have expressed his willingness to waive extradition but the other two are reported to have refused. This will make it necessary to go through the process of extraditing the men in order to bring them to this state to face the charges against them. John McKinney probably will face a charge of receiving stolen property and further investigation may result in additional charges. Another man, said to be a member of the gang, whose name is reported to be Rosette, is under arrest in Plattsburgh.

State troopers and the authorities of several communities are continuing the investigation.

MAKE NEW RECORD IN LOADING CARS

Railroads Handle 1,102,336 Cars in Week.

Washington.—A new high record for loading freight cars, with its accompanying indication of business conditions, was made by the railroads during the week ended October 18, during that week 1,102,336 cars were loaded with revenue freight, exceeding by more than 8,000 cars the previous high record of 1923. On one day alone, October 15, the railroads moved 1,000,211 cars, both loaded and empty, which if made up into one solid train would have reached from New York to San Francisco and return and then back to Omaha.

In a report issued recently, the American Railway association declares that while the weekly records of American railroading were being surpassed, the movement of freight was carried on without congestion or car shortage, and that there are 100,000 serviceable freight cars and 5,400 locomotives in surplus reserve.

Spent Much for Equipment. The railroads, the report says, were enabled to make the new record because of their large expenditures for equipment and improvements; because of improved car distribution and because of the growing efficiency of the regional shippers' advisory boards having memberships representing all phases of agricultural and industrial production.

"Record-breaking grain crops have been moved without a single reported car shortage from the western states," says the report. "The California perishable producers heretofore have been confronted with periodical car shortages, but this year there was no shortage of refrigerator equipment."

Other Records Established.

In addition to the new high record for movement of revenue freight during the week ended October 18, the railroads made other new records.

More cars were loaded with miscellaneous freight; more cars were loaded with live stock and the new record was made for cars in movement on a single day. Loading of grain and grain products for the same comparative period were second only to the high record made two weeks earlier.

That showed a small decrease in merchandise and small lots, and forest products showed an increase over a year ago, but one and one-half percent.

All classes showed increases over the corresponding week two years ago, except in the eastern district.
